

Technical Sales Engineer

Mechanical Engineering

Location: Midlands | ££ Excellent Salary + Profit share bonus + Outstanding pension
+ Car + Full product & sales training

Are you a qualified Engineer looking for a commercial role? Mechanically biased with a commercial edge? Looking for a career with a first class manufacturer?

Founded in 1975 Roemheld UK deliver workholding and clamping solutions across a wide range of manufacturing and assembly applications and industries. They support major OEMs such as Rolls Royce, BMW and GKN Aerospace, through to smaller machine shops within aerospace, automotive and industrial, forming part of the Roemheld Group which incorporates HILMA and STARK. They are a premium brand, a market leader, renowned for quality with a strong customer base across the UK and Ireland. They have a longstanding, successful UK sales team boasting a 'family-feel' supported by a global organisation.

Due to upcoming retirement, Roemheld UK are looking to recruit an Engineer with excellent people skills to nurture, develop and grow their customer base across the Midlands. A Mechanical Engineering background is a must, you could be an Applications Engineer, a Design Engineer, a Toolmaker etc but you must be keen to visit customers; allowing your personality to shine and using your technical knowledge to increase sales. In return you will receive product and sales training, with the opportunity to visit their HQ in Germany and the guidance and support of the current role incumbent during a handover / training period.

Get in touch today to discuss this fantastic opportunity with an industry leader.
